

Local CSA Guidelines

Honeywood Farms is thrilled you will be participating in the Local Food Movement by joining our Local CSA this season! By choosing to buy directly from our farm you have made a conscience decision to eat healthy, seasonally and sustainably. We believe knowing where your food comes from and the practices that are used to produce that food is imperative for citizens in today's world. Our industrial based food is becoming more and more processed everyday and is often contaminated with toxic herbicides, pesticides, chemical preservatives, GMO's and antibiotics, not to mention various unnatural growth hormones. The majority of industrial meat sources have been inhumanely raised in confinement feed operations (CAFO's), facilities that are detrimental to both the health of the animals, and the environment. At Honeywood we don't use any of that stuff! We pride ourselves on bringing you and your family nutrient rich whole food, free of chemicals and toxins. We treat our animals with respect, we raise them in their natural habitat, on open sunny pastures and gladed woodlands. We produce food designed to nourish your mind, body and soul.
